The WBC is not only the first, but is the only boxing sanctioning organization that has instituted the "pre bout safety requirements rules" (medicals and safety weigh-ins) that aim to protect the health and the welfare of all professional boxers during and after their professional boxing careers.

The pre bout safety weigh-ins are to be done:

30 Days before the championship Not more than 10% of the official limit

14 Days Not more than 5%

7 Days Not more than 3%

On these specific days before the official weigh-in

The above safety control reductions is so that we can safely monitor and control the dehydration and rehydration process of the boxers so that they enter the ring in as safe and healthy condition as possible.

The WBC pre bout medical requirements are:-

a. "Complete Physical/Medical Examination"---Valid for one year.

b. "MRI" -"Without contrast" valid for 3 years.

c. "Ophthalmological" (eye) exam done by an Ophthalmologist--Valid for one year.

d. "HIV 1 & 2" and "Hepatitis B&C Surface Antigen" examinations -- both valid for 6 months.

e. Boxers 35 years and over also need to get EKG and Neurological clearances.

f. Boxers 40 years and over needs to get an MRA Clearance.

All boxes Competing for a WBC (Male-Female & International) Championship MUST supply a urine sample for prohibited drug testing-

In difficult times we have to grit our teeth until the bad moment is over.

Before the outbreak of covid-19, the Committee had promoted several championships in only two months, with eighteen more title bouts already regularly sanctioned and scheduled to happen between March, April and May. The virus has been biking many parts of the world and all activities have been seriously jeopardized, not only boxing.

After the lockdown (still in place in several countries) we have managed to come back with a good activity:

The Middleweight Championship

A successful defence of Uruzquieta (135 Silver)

New champion in Nicaragua (118 Silver)

Two very successful Championships in Tijuana (2)

The new SuperLightweight champion (Ohara Davies)

A great Championship in Dubai with new champ Maxi Hughes

The new WBC International 168lbs Silver champion (Petro Ivanov)

The new WBC International Welterweight champion (Rashidi Ellis)

The new WBC International SuperWelter champion (Tursynbay Kulakhmet)

The new WBC International LHweight Silver champion (Pawel Piotr Augustynik)

Unfortunately, three scheduled Championships in November had to be cancelled due to different factors, mostly the pandemic.
